CONGRESS.

THIRTY THIRD CONGRESS-FIRST SESSION

Senate, Wednesday, Feb. 15, 1854.

The Chair laid before the Senate Lieutenant Gibbons's part of Lieutenant Herndon's report of the exploration of the valley of the Amazon. Ordered to be printed.

Mr. Fish presented the remonstrance of the Society of Friends of New York, against the passage of any act allowing an extension of the area of Slavery.

House bill for the relief of John O. Mears was reported taken up and passage.

Mr. Stuart submitted a resolution, directing the Committee on Commerce to report without delay a bill making appropriations for the improvement of rivers and harbors. Laid over.

Mr. Rusk introduced a bill to provide for the surviving officers of the Texas navy.

The French Spoliation bill, which was yesterday ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, was taken up and passed—yeas 27, nays 15.

The following bills were severally taken up A bill to establish a land district in Florida, to be called Tampa District. A bill constituting San Pedro, in California bill to establish a Territorial Government for Nebraska.

Mr. Houston said that, though yet extremely unwell, he would, if possible, conclude his remarks to-day. He would do so, though he could not understand that there was any public interests requiring urgency in the passage of this bill. He thought that the boundaries of Kansas might be so fixed as not to include them within any Territorial Government.

He repeated his views of the high character of the Indians for honor and probity, and asserted that no instance could be found wherein the Indians had ever broken a treaty. He was for civilizing and Christianizing the Indians. He was opposed to the bill because it connected three great subjects into one bill. These subjects were Nebraska, where no sufficient population existed; the Kansas Territory, which was entirely Indian country; and the repeal of the Missouri Compromise.

He read a letter published in the Richmond Enquirer, in which his opposition to the bill was anticipated and denounced. He replied to the charges, and said that he would not degrade himself to the level of the writer by hating him.

grade himself to the level of the writer by hating him.

He was opposed to all the provisions of this bill relating to the Indians; and if anything in the bill could be more repugnant to him than those provisions, it was the one relating to the repeal of the Missouri Compromise. He was opposed to the repeal of that measure because we had always stood upon it. He stood upon it on the Oregon bill, and the South had sustained him. That Compromise formed part of the supreme law of Texas. He stood firmly upon the Compromise acts of 1850. He was the only Senator now present who had voted for every measure embraced in the Compromise of 1850. In voting for it, he never supposed he was voting for a repeal of the Missouri Compromise. It was a finality of this Slavery agitation. It had been so accepted and approved by the people of the United States. Would not the repeal of the Missouri compact lead to excitement and agitation? If one compact was to be set aside, was it not an authority and sanction for trampling the other under foot?

Therefore, we was the set aside, as it as an authority and sanction for trampling the other under foot?

Though party lines no longer existed to any great extent, he would support this Administration by voting against this bill, on the principles avowed by the President in his letter accepting the nomination at the hands of the Convention at Baltimore. That Convention laid down a platform, that the Democratic party would forever resist slavery agitation in party would forever resist slavery agitation in any shape or form.

The President endorsed this resolution; so did the candidate for Vice President. He read the resolutions of the Baltimore platform, and the letters of Messrs. Pierce and King, and contended that in preserving this compact, he was supporting the principle of non-agitation of Slavery then avowed by them.

The South had not asked for this measure. It would be no benefit to the South. It would be a measure which would apply the knife to be a measure which would apply the knife to the throat of the South. He came into Con-Compromise. There were but three in Congress now, who were then in Congress—they were Messrs. Benton, Everett, and himself.

He continued his remarks till halt-past two. The question was then taken on Mr. Doug-e's amendment to the 14th section, and it was agreed to—yeas 35, nays 10.

Mr. Chase then submitted an as

Mr. Bissell, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported back the House bill referred to them, with the Senate's amendments, which bill awards four months' pay to each officer and soldier among the San Francisco sufferers. An amendment, embracing Lieut. Murray, of the Navy, was approved of. An amendment, granting pensions to the widows and heirs of those who perished, in like manner as though they had died in battle, was approved of. An amendment, ordering that advance payments made prior to embarcation be not deducted from the foregoing award, was not agreed to, Mr. Bissell having alleged that it would operate unequally, many having drawn no advance pay. [if the Senate shall insist on this amendment, a Committee of Conference will be necessary.]

mmittees being called upon severally

The committees being called upon severally for reports, &c., many of a private or unimportant character were presented.

Mr. Bayly, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, asked leave to report back, to lie on the table, "a large number" of memorials, asking for the insertion of an arbitration clause

Mr. Ewing, from the Committee on Elec-

Mike Walsh's occupying a seat in this House, he having been born in Ireland, and never having been naturalized in the United States. Mr. E. said he would express no opinion on the subject now, but would remark that he would be sorry to lose his honorable friend over the way from this hall.

Mr. Walsh. You needn't trouble yourself on that score.

Mr. Walsh. You needn't trouble yourself on that score.

Mr. Dean moved a suspension of the rules, and that the House resolve itself into Committee of the Whole. But, the morning hour having not yet expired,

Mr. Breckenridge asked that he might first be allowed to state that he was instructed by the Committee of Ways and Means to say that that committee was ready to report a Deficiency bill.

Several reports having been presented and some discussion had,

Mr. Dean renewed his motion, and the House went into Committee of the Whole on Several gentlemen arose to controvert the decision of the Chair, and reminded him of the

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE—1854.

A beautiful Engraving in each Number.

THE LIVING AGE has been abundantly honored by the approbation of the hest judges; it has been pronounced to be sound and vigorous; various and entertaining; full of spirit and life; uniting the qualities which greatify the scholar, the philosopher, and the man of business, with those which recommend it to their wives and children. We shall now endeavor to add to these intrinsic excellences the greater attractions of Art, and, beginning with 1854, Every Number will contain an Impression from a beautiful Steel Plate.

The 52 Plates a year will alone be worth the price

The 52 Plates a year will alone be worth the price of subscription.

This work is made up of the elaborate and stately essays of the Edinburgh, Quarterly, and other Reviews; and Blackwood's noble criticisms on poetry, his keen political commentaries, highly wrought tales, and vivid descriptions of rural and mountain scenery; and the contributions to literature, history, and common life, by the sagacious Spectator, the sparkling Examiner, the judicious Athenacum, the busy and industrious Literary Gazette, the sensible and comprehensive Britannia, the sober and respectable Christian Observer; these are intermixed with the military and naval reminiscences of the United Service, and with the best articles of the Dublin University, New Monthly, Fraser's, Tait's, Ainsecorth's, Hood's, and Sporting Magazines, and of Chambers admirable Journal. We do not consider it beneath our dignity to borrew wit and wisdom from Panch, and, when we think it good enough, make use of the thunder of The Times. We shall increase our variety by importations from the continent of Europe, and from the new growth of the British colonies.

THE LIVING AGE is published every Saturday, by LITTELL, SON, & COMPANY, corner of Tremont and Bromfield streets, Boston. Price 124 centra number, or six dollars a year in advance. Without admitting or denying its truth, the subseriber determined to remedy the evil. To this end, he has made a list of every brand which any gentleman has pronounced "the best segar I ever smoked," and with this document he has procured from the first importers in New York, a stock of these choice brands, and now offers them to the public.

Every fumigator, who knows a good segar when he smells it, is requested to call and examine the stock.

HENRY JANNEY

SHOE DEALER, and Fashionable Boot Maker, Pennsylvania Avenue, between Browns' Hotel and Seventh street, Washington. Jan 2-3m

HEMOVAL!

HENRY JANNEY'S Boot and Shoe Store and Manufactory, for the last ten years located on 8th street, near the General Post Office, was removed to Pennsylvania Avenue, between Browns' Hot-I and 7th street, where the proprietor has spared no pains or expense in fitting up an establishment commensurate with the great increase in the business of the house.

The subscriber tenders his most cordial and grate-

The subscriber tenders his most cordial and grateful acknowledgments to his friends and patrons for their long-continued favors, and will be pleased to meet them in his new house.

I have a very well-assorted stock of Boots and Shoes, of French, New York, Eastern, and my own make, embracing every style and variety, to which I invite the attention of members of Congress, and citizens generally.

From the United States Argus.

To those persons who may visit Washington, and are in want of a boot that cannot be excelled, either in quality or workmanship, we would call their attention to the card of Henry Janney, to be found under the head of "Washington." A handsome and neatly-made boot is not at all times a source of pleasure to the wearer, but often one of extreme forture; this is caused by the bungling manner in which the boot is fitted to the foot. Mr. Janney has devoted much of his time in studying the construction of the human foot, in order to ascertain how a boot should be cut and fitted, that will be perfectly easy to all parts of the foot. In this he has succeeded, so that it matters not what may be the shape of or the number of corns on the foot, his boot is perfectly easy. Thus he has combined beauty with comfort.
